The battle over open discussion of COVID-19 quasi-vaccine data gets uglier by the day. A few days ago I discussed the mortality estimates by German insurer BKK ProVita here:

Vaccine-Induced Mortality, Part 9: Health Insurer Confirmation

Germany's largest health insurance company, BKK, just came out with an alarming estimate that the experimental quasi-vaccines killed 31,000 people there. Having worked through college as an actuary, I'm going to suggest that the actuaries did not likely get this wrong. They are the world's experts in exactly this form of data analysis, by definition, and...

This is chilling news. Nothing like this should ever happen in a free and open society. Is there anyone left who does not recognize that this battle goes deeper than what appears on the surface? How many times must a "win condition" (pick your endpoint...mandates? The whole mass human trial?) materialize and then evaporate?

Wahnsinn: BKK ProVita- Vorstand Schöfbeck wurde laut eigenen Angaben gekündigt. Das passiert also, wenn man offen über Impfnebenwirkungen spricht. Wer will eigentlich noch behaupten, wir hätten in Deutschland sowas wie Freiheit?

Madness: BKK ProVita board member Schöfbeck was terminated according to his own statements. So this is what happens when you talk openly about vaccine side effects. Who actually still wants to claim that we have something like freedom in Germany?

It will now be interesting to see which people in society accept this whitewashing of insurance data, and talk as if it never really happened.

Addendum: Paul Alexander published his own write-up on the story a few hours ago.

German insurance executive who warned of the high vaccine side-effect rate revealed by billing data, has now been fired; the question is 'why'?

Aletho news “Two weeks ago, BKK ProVita chairman Andreas Schöpfbeck caused a small uproar by writing to Germany’s vaccine regulator, the Paul-Ehrlich-Institut, to inquire about the high rate of vaccine side-effects evident from BKK billing data. Schöpfbeck...

From that article:

Representatives from the Paul-Ehrlich-Institut, including its president, Klaus Cichutek, had agreed to meet with Schöfbeck and other BKK officials about their concerns this afternoon. Schöfbeck's termination was obviously timed to prevent his participation at that meeting, which will now go forward without him.

This is the behaviour of people who have deep confidence in the safety and effectiveness of our Corona vaccines.”

Tinnitus and blood clots are the main complaints my medical practitioner is seeing in her practice. The dead patients don't make appointments. Yet, there has been no change in messaging: safe and effective for all people, all the time, from cradle to grave. I overheard another patient saying, "I just haven't been the same since my booster," so some people are aware that they aren't always safe.

The Clot Shots are deadly. No amount of intimidation will be able to hide that fact forever. The news gets worse about the "vaccines " every day. I personally know three people that have been hospitalized due to the shots and I hear new stories all the time. It will come out.
