Bill Gates and Anthony Fauci have become household names in the U.S., their largely sterling reputations protected by a heavily biased press. Less known is the deep partnership between the two – the culmination of which has created a formidable public-private partnership that wields incredible power over the American public, along with global health and food policies.

You can read all of the details in Robert F. Kennedy Jr.'s bestselling book, "The Real Anthony Fauci," which contains more than 2,200 footnotes backing up its data. It exposes the connection between Gates and Fauci, as well as how Gates patterned his rise to control after John Rockefeller's empire.

In 1913, Rockefeller created the Rockefeller Foundation, which is largely responsible for creating the Big Pharma-controlled medical paradigm that exists today. The foundation imbued its philosophy, precepts and ideologies into the League of Nations Health Organization, which turned into the World Health Organization.

Now, Gates contributes to WHO via multiple avenues, including the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation (BMGF) as well as GAVI, which was founded by the Gates Foundation in partnership with WHO, the World Bank and various vaccine manufacturers. Together, this makes Gates WHO's No. 1 funder.

How Gates Used Rockefeller's Business Model

Inspired by Rockefeller's business model, Bill and Melinda Gates donated $36 billion worth of Microsoft stock to the BMGF between 1994 and 2018. Gates also created a separate entity, Bill Gates Investments (BGI), which manages his personal wealth and his foundation's corpus.

BGI predominantly invests in multinational food, agriculture, pharmaceutical, energy, telecom and tech companies with global operations. Federal tax laws require the BMGF to give away a portion of its foundation assets annually to qualify for tax exemption.

Gates strategically targets BMGF's charitable gifts to give him control of the international health and agricultural agencies and the media, allowing him to dictate global health and food policies so as to increase profitability of the large multinationals in which he and his foundation hold large investment positions.

As was the case with Rockefeller, whose wealth only grew after his Standard Oil Company was forced to split into 34 different companies, Gates' strategic gifts have only magnified his wealth. Gates' personal net worth grew from $63 billion in 2000 to $129.6 billion in 2021,¹ his wealth expanding by $23 billion during the 2020 lockdowns alone.²

How Gates Controls the WHO

How does a private citizen, not an elected official, gain so much control over a global health agency like WHO? When it was founded, WHO could decide how to distribute its contributions. Now, 70% of its budget is tied to specific projects, countries or regions, which are dictated by the funders.³ As such, Gates' priorities are the backbone of WHO, and it wasn't a coincidence when he said of WHO, "Our priorities, are your priorities."⁴

As of 2018, the cumulative contributions from the Gates Foundation and GAVI made "Gates the unofficial top sponsor of the WHO, even before the Trump administration's 2020 move to cut all his support to the organization," according to Kennedy. "Plus, Gates also routes funding to WHO through SAGE [Strategic Advisory Group of Experts] and UNICEF and Rotary International bringing his total contributions to over $1 billion."

These tax-deductible donations give Gates both leverage and control over international health policy, "which he largely directs to serve the profit interest of his pharma partners."

Further, "Gate's vaccine obsession has diverted WHO's program contributions from poverty alleviation, nutrition and clean water to make vaccine uptake its preeminent public health metric. And Gates is not afraid to throw his weight around," according to Kennedy. "... The sheer magnitude of his foundation's financial contributions has made Bill Gates an unofficial – albeit unelected – leader of the WHO." Gates' power has grown further due to his decadeslong partnership with Fauci.

Fauci's Immense Power

Alone, both Gates and Fauci wield immense power in their fields. Together, they're a formidable, if unfortunately nefarious, force.

As the director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID) – part of the U.S. National Institutes of Health (NIH) – "Fauci has a $6.1 billion budget that he distributes to colleges and universities to do drug research for various diseases," Kennedy says. "He has another $1.7 billion that comes from the military to do bioweapons research."⁵

This is where Fauci's power lies: in his capacity to fund, arm, pay, maintain and effectively deploy a large and sprawling standing army. The NIH alone controls an annual $37 billion budget distributed in over 50,000 grants supporting over 300,000 positions globally in medical research.⁶

The thousands of doctors, hospital administrators, health officials and research virologists whose positions, careers and salaries depend on AIDS dollars flowing from Dr. Fauci, Gates and the Wellcome Trust (Great Britain's version of the Gates Foundation) are the officers and soldiers in a mercenary army that functions to defend all vaccines and Dr. Fauci's HIV/AIDS doxologies.

Along with Gates, Fauci had the power to influence funding of U.S. foreign aid to Africa for AIDS, prioritizing that for vaccines and drugs instead of nutrition, sanitation and economic development. Yet, Fauci and his team, funded by Gates, have never created a vaccine for AIDS, despite squandering billions of dollars, and causing uncounted human carnage. In 2020, many of the Gates/Fauci HIV vaccine trials in Africa suddenly became COVID-19 vaccine trials.⁷

As explained in Kennedy's book, HIV provided Gates and Fauci a beachhead in Africa for their new brand of medical colonialism and a vehicle for the partners to build and maintain a powerful global network that came to include heads of state, health ministers, international health regulators, the WHO, the World Bank, the World Economic Forum, key leaders from the financial industry and military officials who served as command center of the burgeoning Biosecurity Apparatus.

Their foot soldiers were the army of frontline virologists, vaccinologists, clinicians and hospital administrators who relied on their largesse and acted as the community-based ideological commissars of this crusade.

Fauci 'Enthusiastic' About Gates COVID Partnership

April 1, 2020, Fauci spoke with Gates on the phone, according to emails released in 2021. Fauci referred to the phone call in an email to Emilio Emini, the director of the Gates Foundation's tuberculosis and HIV program, stating, "As I had mentioned to Bill yesterday evening, I am enthusiastic about moving towards a collaborative and hopefully synergistic approach to COVID-19."⁸

The email was part of 3,000 emails obtained via a FOIA public records request by the Informed Consent Action Network (ICAN). Despite having no medical degree, Gates has been granted direct access to top government health officials, who regard him as a public health authority. In June 2021, Daily Mail reported:⁹

"The Gates Foundation has committed at least $1.75 billion toward the global effort to fight the pandemic – a sum that opened doors at the highest levels of government. Following Fauci's phone call with Gates, the Gates Foundation executive Emini emailed him to follow up and ask 'how we can coordinate and cross inform each other's activities.'

'There's an obvious need for coordination among the various primary funders or the focus we need to have given the state of the pandemic will become lost through uncoordinated activities,' Emini wrote."

Fauci also said he would facilitate a call between Emini and the Biomedical Advanced Research and Development Authority (BARDA),¹⁰ which provides funding for vaccine and drug development, promoting "the advanced development of medical countermeasures to protect Americans and respond to 21st century health security threats."¹¹ Daily Mail continued:¹²

"The Gates Foundation's partnership with BARDA resulted in at least one joint funding project. In June 2020, Evidation Health announced that BARDA and the Gates Foundation were financing an effort to 'develop an early warning algorithm to detect symptoms of COVID-19.'

It's unclear whether the warning system was ever launched, and Evidation issued no further statements on the project after the initial announcement. Other emails released ... make it clear that the Gates Foundation remained actively involved in the NIH's pandemic response."

The Fauci-Gates partnership led to $1 billion in increased funding to Gates' global vaccine programs, even as the NIH budget itself experienced little growth.¹³ Long before the April 2021 phone call, however, Kennedy's book reveals that Fauci and Gates met in person, shaking hands in 2000 in an agreement to control and expand the global vaccine enterprise.

Why Haven't You Heard About This Before?

When you're one of the richest people in the world, you can buy virtually anything you want – including control of the media so that it only prints favorable press. If you have enough money – and Gates certainly does – you can even get major media companies like ViacomCBS, which runs MTV, VH1, Nickelodeon and BET, among others, to insert your approved PSAs into their programming – and BMGF has.¹⁴

Via more than 30,000 grants, Gates has contributed at least $319 million to the media, Alan MacLeod, a senior staff writer for MintPress News, revealed.¹⁵ From press and journalism associations to journalistic training, Gates is an overarching keeper of the press, which makes true objective reporting pertaining to Gates himself – or his many initiatives – virtually impossible.¹⁶

Speaking with MintPress News, Linsey McGoey, a professor of sociology at the University of Essex, U.K., explained that Gates' philanthropy comes with a price:¹⁷

"Philanthropy can and is being used deliberately to divert attention away from different forms of economic exploitation that underpin global inequality today.

The new 'philanthrocapitalism' threatens democracy by increasing the power of the corporate sector at the expense of the public sector organizations, which increasingly face budget squeezes, in part by excessively remunerating for-profit organizations to deliver public services that could be delivered more cheaply without private sector involvement."

It's a sentiment Kennedy, who believes Fauci and Gates should be investigated for criminal wrongdoing, has echoed. In an interview, he stated that billionaires are in collusion with media, corporations and politicians in order to increase their tremendous wealth:¹⁸

"The most important productive strategy or the big talk around the oligarchs and the intelligence agencies and the pharmaceutical companies who are trying to impoverish us and obliterate democracy, their strategy is to create fear and division.

So orchestrate fear, divide Republicans from Democrats and blacks from whites and get a lot of infighting so nobody notices that they are making themselves billions and billions, while they impoverish the rest of us and execute the controlled demolition of American constitutional democracy."
